"DEAD HEADS."—The following item on "dead heads," taken from a contemporary, is as applicable to Taylor's Falls as any other town:

"The free tickets given to the press for the uses named are always paid for, and that very liberally. As a rule, those who issue—not those who receive—these free tickets are the 'dead heads,' usually give fifty cents for that which a five dollar bill would not adequately pay for. So long as the newspaper editor is expected to give liberal notices of entertainments before they occur, and then follow these with a generous puff after the show is over, he certainly has no place in the 'dead head' classification. Indeed, nine cases out of ten, the editors would be glad to receive half pay for their work and pay two prices for the free ticket. They certainly would make money by the operation.

There is another class of 'dead heads' who are not newspaper men. The publication of advertisements is as much in the business of a newspaper as the publication of the news, and an editorial notice which is designed to supply the place of an advertisement is a gratuitous insertion that would such advertisement. Yet there are those who ask just such gratuitous notices, and this almost as a matter of right. If these same persons should be asked to make a present of a dollar's worth of sugar to whom they bought three pounds of tea, or half a dozen 'free tickets' to whoever engaged free seats at a concert, they would resent the demand as an insult. Yet why should not their wages be given away as freely as should and are the products of the editor's and publisher's labor and capital? The merchant makes his profit and living by selling his goods. The publisher of a newspaper makes his by giving them away in aid of a public library or other benevolent object, he deserves thanks as a public benefactor, and not insults as a 'dead head.'

We would call attention to our list of New Advertisements to-day.

To CONSUMERS.—It costs you no more to buy a full pound of D. B. De Land & Co.'s Best Chemical Saleratus than it does other kinds that only weigh 14 or 15 ounces.

AN ESSAY ON THE RED MAN.—An Idaho poet has been exasperated by Indian depredations in the perpetration of the following:

Lo, the poor Indian! whose unscrupulous mind
Steals our best ox, nor leaves a horse behind;
Oh, as! his soul was never taught to stray
Upon that cloud-topped hill he lies—
At night he steals what in the day he spies;
Eating as they kill, killing as they eat,
They then once more their lovely squaws behold.

Enjoy cannibal bliss, nor thirst for gold,
To steal's not half their natural desire,
Their delight to set a house on fire,
And shoot the inmates who attempt to flee,
Old Beelzebub hears them company.

The Self-Examining Society has propounded the following queries about his financial period to everybody:

Does it cost anything to print a newspaper?
How long can a printer afford to print a newspaper without pay?
Do printers eat, drink and wear anything?
If so how do they get it?
Do I owe for my paper?
Is not this particular time a first-rate time to call and pay up?

Tan release of Mr. Davis has disclosed the intensity of the desire on the part of loyal men, North and South, that he should be brought to punishment.

This popular expression does not come from the surface, but from the depth of the almost universal conviction that an expiation was due, not simply to the memories of the loyal dead who fell in the great struggle, but to the sense of public justice, and to the repose of the country hereafter.

STAMP DUTY.—No stamp duty is required on "powers of attorney or any other paper relating to applicants for bounties, arrearages of pay, or pensions, or the receipt thereof from time to time." This provision applies to those papers only which relate to United States bounties, pensions, &c., and does not extend to those relating to State, county, and town bounties, &c. A power of attorney to endorse the official check of a United States disbursing officer, issued for money to be applied in payment of a United States bounty or pension, or in discharge of a claim against the United States for what is technically known as arrearages of pay, is a paper relating to the receipt of such pension, bounty, &c., and is therefore exempt from stamp tax.

The Tennessee Conservatives are making the most tremendous bids for negro votes, and the rebel organs at Nashville far out do the radicals in "nigger worshiping." We find in the Nashville Union this appeal:—"Let us fling our whole souls into it. Take the negro in to your conversation. Give him a place by your side. Aye, make him a Vice President, let him sit side by side with your first officer, in token of eternal reconciliation and fraternity."

QUEEN VICTORIA has issued a Proclamation by which Upper and Lower Canada, New Brunswick and Nova Scotia are united into one Government called "The Dominion of Canada." She also appoints the Senators who are to compose one house of the Parliament—the Representatives are to be elected by the popular vote, while the Viceroy or Governor is also appointed by the Royal or rather Ministerial Authority in London.

Editorial Extension.—Last week was a gala week amongst the Editors and Publishers of the States of Minnesota and Wisconsin. The Wisconsin fraternity supported by their State officers under charge of Capt. Davidson arrived at St. Paul on Thursday morning and were received by Mayor Oakes and the Minnesota editors. They then repaired to one of Capt. Davidson's palatial steamers and took part in a banquet, after which they were treated to a ride through the city of St. Paul. In the evening they visited the New Opera House, and afterwards to the Skating Park, (now a place for summer resort,) where a grand banquet had been prepared. Here several hours were spent pleasantly in speeches, toasts, wine, &c. On Friday morning the entire party visited Minneapolis, via the St. Paul & Pacific R.R. They were greeted by the Mayor and a large concourse of her citizens. The manufacturers were visited and towards noon a procession of earriages over a mile long might have been seen winding its way over Nicollet Island through the city towards the Fair Grounds, where another banquet had been given up in the best of style. Toward evening they entered their earriages and proceeded to the Nicollet where the entire fraternity was photographed for some illustrated paper. They took passage on the M. C. R. R. and returned to St. Paul by the way of Minnehaha and Fort Snelling in time to take the evening boat for La Crosse. Gov. Marshall, Senator Ramsey and many others participated in the proceedings throughout.

A steamboat arrived at St. Paul a few days ago, direct from Green Bay via the Fox and Wisconsin river. This is the first time a boat has made this trip.

A poor but well-educated New England girl a few years since opened a real estate office in St. Paul, and last year the profits of her business were $5,000; and she now has an estate of $150,000 to settle. That is extending the "sphere of woman" to some purpose.

The growing crops in Wisconsin are in excellent condition. Corn is reported as very fine in nearly all parts of the state, and vegetation is making up for lost time.

Local Notices.

Success Union Merr.—If there is an instance upon the records of our country where an article of American manufacture has made its way to universal favor solely upon its own merits and without extraneous aid, it is that of the Best Chemical Soderata. It has only to be sold in one place, and it is demanded in another; and so it has gone on increasing in favor until the products of the extensive Chemical Works of D. B. De Land & Co., at Fairport, Monroe County, N. Y., are now immense.

This article is made only at these works by a process known only to the proprietors, and is better for all purposes than Soda. Try it.

Buy your Furniture at Osceola Mills, Polk Co., Wis., the cheapest and best establishment in the St. Croix Valley. Either at Wholesale or Retail. All work warranted and satisfaction guaranteed. MORTGAGE SALE.

Default having been made in the conditions of a certain mortgage, executed and delivered by Lyman C. Dayton of St. Paul, Minnesota, to William Ginnell and Robert S. Amund, dated May 18th, 1857, and duly recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds, within and for Chicago county, Minnesota, August 21st, 1857, in Book "19" of mortgages, page 305, &c., which said mortgage was duly assigned to Richard Irvin, by an instrument in writing, dated July 17th, 1855, and recorded in said Chicago county Register's office, February 10th, 1856, in Book "19" of mortgages, pages 88 and 89. And a judgment having been recovered by the said mortgagee, against said mortgagor, on the notes to which said mortgage was collateral, which judgment has been duly assigned to said Irvin, and an execution, heretofore issued thereon, has been returned wholly unsatisfied, and there is claimed to be due on said mortgage, at the date of this notice, the sum of six thousand nine hundred and ninety-one dollars ($6,991).

And the said mortgage premises are described as follows, viz:—The north half of the south east quarter of section 32, township 29, range 24, west, in Range 24, west, in Township 29, north, except the part thereof conveyed by Lyman C. Dayton to Alpheus G. Fuller, by deed dated June 7th, 1856, and a judgment having been recovered by the said mortgagee, against said mortgagor, on the notes to which said mortgage was collateral, and the said mortgage premises, except the part thereof situated in Ramsey county, or in said described. Also the east half of the south west quarter of section 25, and the east half of the north west quarter of section 25, township 32, north of range 21, west, and the north east quarter of section 7, township 24, north of range 21, west, in Chicago county, Minnesota, and the north east quarter of the north west quarter of section 19, township 31, range 22, west.

Now therefore, notice is hereby given, that by virtue of the power of sale contained in and recorded with said mortgage, and pursuant to the statute in such case made and provided, the said mortgage premises, except the part thereof situated in Ramsey county, or in said described, to the highest bidder for cash, at the front door of the office of the Register of Deeds at Chicago City, in said county of Chicago, on the SEVENTEENTH DAY OF AUGUST, 1857, at twelve o'clock noon of that day, to satisfy said mortgage and the expenses of foreclosure.

THE EMPTY SLEEVE.

BY "WOLFENBUTEL."

I want no play, ask no aid,
Give me some work for this old hand:
The other, 'neath the Southern palm,
Is getting in the shilling and
Let's have a child, a wife,
As dear to me as you to me,
And free of my life,
To do as I please with me.

I could not rest in a life case,
And free of my life,
To do as I please with me,
To do as I please with me,
To do as I please with me,
To do as I please with me,
To do as I please with me,
To do as I please with me.

Regretted by smoke and torn by shell,
But each stand fast in its place,
More holy for the hearts that fell,
To do as I please with me,
To do as I please with me,
To do as I please with me,
To do as I please with me,
To do as I please with me.

When the keen saws raged through the bone,
From my pain the blood came out,
But the sting of pain alone
To do as I please with me,
To do as I please with me,
To do as I please with me,
To do as I please with me,
To do as I please with me.

"Nay, don't despair," take courage, lad,
The boy's sword is bloody and true,
But better to lose an arm to lead,
To do as I please with me,
To do as I please with me,
To do as I please with me,
To do as I please with me,
To do as I please with me.

Of those who wait at home for bread,
Upon your heart a heavy load,
That this old hand of mine
To do as I please with me,
To do as I please with me,
To do as I please with me,
To do as I please with me,
To do as I please with me.

But let me tell the world,
Of those who wait at home for bread,
Upon your heart a heavy load,
To do as I please with me,
To do as I please with me,
To do as I please with me,
To do as I please with me,
To do as I please with me.

Does it not tell of hardships passed—
This soldier's story, true and true,
That this old hand of mine
To do as I please with me,
To do as I please with me,
To do as I please with me,
To do as I please with me,
To do as I please with me.

their arms extended straight forward toward the ground, and moving rapidly, they may mention also that having now opened the stomachs of several freshly killed gorillas, I have never found anything but vegetable matter in them.

Three live gorillas caught. The natives of all the neighboring country were now so well aware that I wanted gorillas, and was willing to give a high price for them, that many were stimulated to search with great perseverance. The good effects of this were soon made evident.

One day, as I was quietly dining with Captain Holder, of the Cambria (a vessel just arrived from England), one of my men came in with the startling news that three live gorillas had been brought, one of them full-grown. I had not long to wait, in fact. First, a very large adult female, bound hand and foot, then her female child, screaming terribly; and lastly, a vigorous young male, also tightly bound.

The female had been ingeniously secured by the negroes to a strong stick, the wrists bound to the upper part and the ankles to the lower part of the stick. I reached to the cords with my teeth. It was dark, and the scene was one so wild and strange that I shall never forget it. The female contained the same old story, for the mother gorilla was severely wounded. It was up by the side of the stick, and the young male was clinging to her.

The young male I secured by a chain which I had in readiness, and gave him henceforth the name of Tom. We untied the female, and she showed her gratitude for this act of kindness by immediately making a rush at me, screaming with all her might. Happily the chain was made fast, and I was able to keep her off my way. The old mother gorilla was in an unfortunate plight. She had an arm broken and a wound in the chest, besides being dreadfully beaten on the head. She groined and roared many times during the night, probably from pain.

I noticed next day, and on many occasions, that the vigorous young male, when ever he made a dash at any one, immediately ran back. This corresponds with what is known of the habits of the large male of his race, who, when attacked, makes a dash at his enemy, break an arm or tear the bowels open, and then retreat, leaving his victim to shift for himself.

The wounded female died in the course of the next day, her wounds were more frequent in the morning, and she gradually became weaker as her life ebbed out. Her death was like that of a human being, and after her death I could have been as possible. Her child clung to her to the last, and tried to obtain milk from her breast after she was dead. I photographed them both when the young one was resting in its dead mother's lap. I kept the young one alive for three days after its mother's death. It died at night, and was buried by me.

I fed it on goat's milk for a few days, but it was too young to eat berries. I did the best I could, but it died. I had, I think, begun to know me a little. As to the male I made of the dead gorilla a photograph, and placed it in a glass case. It was a fine specimen of the race, and I was very much pleased with it.

The pointing of the camera toward him, threw him into a perfect rage, and I was almost provoked into giving him a sound thrashing. The day after, however, I succeeded with him, taking two views, and he was very perfect, but sufficient for my object.

I must now relate how these three animals were caught, premising that the capture of the female was the first instance that had come to my knowledge, of an adult gorilla being taken alive. The place where they were found was on the bank of the Fernand River, about thirty miles above my village. At this part a road, the only one in the country, crosses the river, and it was here that I had intended to take the distinguished traveler, Captain Burton, to show him the gorilla. He had paid me a visit as I had expected, and I had from him to invite him while he was on a tour from his consulate at Fernando. To go to several points on the West coast.

A woman belonging to a neighboring village had told her people that she had seen two gorillas, and that she had some of them accompanied by their young ones, in her plainland field. The men were to go to the place, and capture the gorillas, and she was to accompany them, armed herself with guns, axes and spears, and sallied forth. The situation was very favorable, and the gorillas were found in the narrow strip of land and pressed forward driving the animals to the edge of the water. When they came in sight of the gorillas, the men were in their power, and thus bewildered the gorillas, who were shot or beaten down by the men.

This incident led me to modify somewhat the opinions I had expressed in "Adventures in Equatorial Africa," regarding some of the habits of the gorilla. I there stated that I believed the gorilla to be an adult female alive, but I had thought to have added, unless wounded. I have also seen several other gorillas, and I am now of the opinion that the gorilla is a true one.

he led him to his own pleasant home, where he was washed and combed and then dressed in a suit of clothes formerly worn by the son of the philanthropist.

To shorten the story, which has been in material enough for a volume, the good old man gave the lad all the advantages afforded by the common schools of the city of churches, and then gave him a clerkship in his own store, for he was a well-to-do merchant.

After several years of faithful service, the young man expressed a wish to engage in business on his own account, or in some other way to test his usefulness.

"I will start you in business," said the old man, "on certain conditions."

"Please state them," remarked the young man, with a smile; for he supposed his benefactor was about to perpetrate a joke at his expense.

"I will start you in business, if you will make three promises," continued the old man.

"I pray what promises do you wish me to make?"

"One is, that you will never swear."

"Another is, that you will never drink rum."

"Agreed,"

"The third is, that you will have nothing to do with politics."

"Agreed."

True to his promise as to the clerk to the star, the young man remained a clerk in the capital, and started him in business in one of the Western States. The young man was a successful one, and he was a well-to-do merchant.

SUMMARY OF THE WEEK. Mexico. Correspondence dated Queretaro, May 26, says: No disposition has yet been made of Maximilian and the 450 officers captured.

Gen. Mendez was shot on Sunday. Escobedo had issued an order that all officers holding, who did not surrender in twenty-four hours, would be summarily shot when captured. Mendez did not give himself up. He was captured on Saturday night, and shot early Sunday morning in the public park. He met his fate like a brave man.

Col. Campas, the commander of Maximilian's body guard, who attempted to escape with four thousand men when the surrender took place, was also shot. No other executions are known, though many are suspected. All the French officers are missing. The principal prisoners are confined together in a church, in very indifferent quarters, without beds or any toilet conveniences. Maximilian continues ill of dysentery.

The wife of Prince Salm-Salm, an American lady, closely related to President Johnson, had made her way to Jerez, to interfere for her husband's life, and in the Emperor's presence. This lady has been seen in her brave mission that recently, on her arrival from San Luis, she, the Emperor and Prince Salm-Salm had a long interview with Escobedo, and there is reason to believe that terms were arranged by which the lives of most of the foreigners will be spared.

Miramon, it is expected, will die of a severe wound received in trying to show fight on the day the city was betrayed.

A report was that Gen. Lopez, who led the Liberal troops into the city, received 3,000 ounces for his treachery. The surprise was complete. Everything was taken, and no one of the prominent chiefs escaped. Scarcely fifty houses were fired. Most of the troops have gone on to the City of Mexico, but Escobedo and a strong garrison still remain in the city. The roads are in a terrible state on account of frequent robberies and murders.

Escobedo had ordered a court-martial to assemble on the 29th, for the trial of Gen. Diaz, a telegram to the Prussian Consul at Mexico, to obtain the services of Mariano Riva and others to defend him. When Maximilian's body was found, Escobedo, he said, "I surrender to you my sword owing to an infamous treachery, without which to-morrow's sun would have seen yours in my hands."

Advices from Mexico state that Maximilian offered to use his influence to cause the immediate surrender of the City of Mexico and Vera Cruz, if he and his German troops should be permitted to leave the country. The proposal was rejected.

Maximilian has received a letter from Gen. Diaz, in which he states that the city of Mexico and Vera Cruz will shortly be taken.

The latest advices from Mexico still leave the fate of Maximilian in doubt. Miramon is reported to have died of fever, and Castillo and Mejia to have been executed after the application of Maximilian to grant them and himself and German officers a safe conduct out of the country, on condition of his abdication and the employment of his influence to secure the surrender of the City of Mexico to the Liberals.

Foreign Intelligence. The Queen of Spain will visit Paris during July.

The King of Prussia and Count Bismarck arrived at Berlin from Paris on the 14th.

The Sultan of Turkey took "small trifle of wires," namely, with him to the Paris Exposition.

All the Fenian prisoners convicted for treason have been transferred to England, and are now in the hands of the British authorities.

The Sultan of Turkey has issued a firman granting to aliens the right to hold lands within the limits of the Ottoman Empire. This is an important concession.

On Monday evening, the 17th, a Reform mob attacked a Tory meeting at St. James Hall, London. They stormed the platform and erected a red flag, surmounted by a liberty cap. There was much fighting and many arrests were made.

Advices from Brazil and Buenos Ayres represent the cholera as raging there in a terrible manner. Seven hundred men are reported to have died in four days. At Buenos Ayres the mortality was fearful, and the people were retreating into the country to escape from the horrors of the city.

The New York Herald's Dublin telegram states: "As four Fenian prisoners (officers) were being taken from the court house to the County of Waterford jail, on the 14th, after an examination, a large crowd attempted to rescue them. They made a severe attack on the police, and court with stones and other missiles. Over thirty of the police were wounded. Of the mob, one man was killed, a few wounded, and some were made prisoners. The Fenian American officers are now in jail."

In the House of Commons, on Saturday evening, the 15th, Major Anson moved to reject a petition, presented some weeks since, from certain parties in Ireland, Reform Leagues and others, praying for the exercise of the Executive Privilege toward Fenian traitors condemned to death in Ireland, and also that the House cancel all mention of its character or reception from the journal of record. The Major denounced the tone of the petition as calculated to incite to fresh acts of rebellion in Ireland, and denounced the speaker as a slanderous insult to the British army. A lively discussion ensued. Anson's motion was rejected.

The only speaker Jefferson Davis has yet made in Canada was delivered in Niagara during his visit to that place when he was surrounded by the band of the town and a large number of the townspeople. They were invited into Mr. Mason's house, where Mr. Davis was staying, and introduced to that gentleman, who expressed his thanks in the following brief speech: "GENTLEMEN: I thank you sincerely for the honor you have this evening shown to me; it shows that true British manhood to which misfortune is always attractive. May peace and prosperity be forever the blessing of Canada; for she has been the asylum for many of my friends, and she is now an asylum for myself. I hope that Canada may forever remain a part of the British Empire, and God bless you all, and the British flag never cease to wave over you."

NEW TOWN.—The Supervisors of Polk County have created a new town by the name of Black Brook. Ranges 15 and 16 of Township 32, comprises the land set off for this borough.

SHOWWALKS.—It is gratifying to notice the reviving enterprise of our town "lads" who have had the sidewalks "re-constructed" to quite an extent and design operating on more yet.

The action of the high water has injured the upper levee to quite a considerable extent. The river is again slowly rising and the rapid water in the ditches with the levee submerged will render it necessary for the boat to land at the mill for some time to come.

SCALDED.—Last Thursday afternoon a two year old by Nye Eckland's was scalded in a most horrible manner, by upsetting a kettle of hot water onto its little body, one arm and leg. Dr. Murdoch was called in, but entertains little hopes of the recovery of the child.

INSTALLATION.—On Monday evening, the following officers were duly installed in Zion Lodge, No. 55, A. F. & A. M.:—H. N. Setzer, W. M.; L. W. Folsom, S. W.; P. S. Eddy, J. W.; J. T. Castellow, S. D.; J. L. Bullard, J. D.; Silas Humphrey, Treasurer; W. X. Folsom, Secretary; A. Thornton, Tyler.

STORM.—On the 21st inst, one of the most severe storms of wind, hail and rain, came upon lake St. Croix, that was ever witnessed in that locality. Several booms were broken by the violence of the storm and a large number of logs turned. A Swede was drowned near the mill boom of Schulenberg, Becker & Co.

DEER SLAUGHTER.—There exists a stringent law in this state against the killing of deer, or the sale of venison, yet this law is constantly, openly and shamefully violated. A few miles above us, deer are said to be indiscriminately slaughtered for the hides and a few choice pieces. Nearly every day venison is offered for sale on our streets. The Indians are the worst offenders, but they are not all.

CHEERING.—During the past week a new leaf has been turned over in the log market, and we find many lumber dealers hooked at the Sawyer House in Stillwater. The newspaper reports of high water, &c., had carried the rumor abroad that all the logs had been driven down from the pines, and the market was flooded. The down river mill owners thinking this the case, proposed to remain at home and purchase logs at their own figures. Having waited long and patiently, and found no logs, they determined to make a tour of investigation, and find that a large proportion of the logs cut last winter were contracted, and not enough were left to fill the demand. The sales of the past week have been quite lively and the prices are much improved.

ANOTHER.—Mr. J. A. Ryden had his fingers badly saved by the late saw at the Chicago mill on Monday one finger was taken off. This is the second victim of the savage little circular within a few weeks.

CROPS.—So much rain has fallen that serious damage to the crops is apprehended. Generally speaking, however, they look finely in this section, and fair weather henceforth will produce a plentiful harvest.

"COLD FISH."—Our friend Webb of the Chicago House was administered a dose of ink, on Thursday, by mistake, instead of the intended medicine. For a few hours he was in a most retched condition, and the way he could "sling ink" for a few minutes, was a caution. He is now at home convalescing.

We notice a few arrivals at this place of Swede immigrants thus early in the season. They are a hardy set and present a very neat and thrifty appearance. Minnesota is making every exertion to turn in her direction the tide of emigration, and is already reaping the harvest, and filling up her spare territory.

A PLEASANT affair transpired at the house of Mr. A. N. Holm on Monday last. Mr. Gus Davidson and Miss Matilda Anderson were united in the holy bonds of matrimony and a grand jubilee followed. The festivities were kept up until a late hour on Tuesday morning.

CONCERT.—Mr. John Nutting with his two little girls gave one of their favorite entertainments at the M. E. Church on Thursday evening. A large audience was present and testified their appreciation by frequent applause. Mr. Nutting promises to return with a full troupe again in the fall.

RYAN NEWS.—That gallant craft, the G. B. Knapp, leaves promptly every morning at 7 o'clock for Arcola, and returns in the evening, bringing the passengers and freight from below.

As regards the boom blockade, there seems to be a little "tempest in a teapot," between the log owners and the Boom Corporation. Many of the log owners who have had their logs run into sloughs this side of Arcola, by the Corporation, threaten to turn them into the boom, and have sent a crew of men to the sloughs for this purpose. If this is done—as there are over 15,000,000 feet in these sloughs, with so many more in Apple river—there will be but little prospect of a clear channel to Stillwater before the first of August. The boom company, however, are using every exertion to prevent this, and have also put on a double crew of men to turn the logs out of the boom and raft them.

We call the attention of our readers to our advertising columns this week. Among the new ads will be found something worthy the attention of parties desirous of coming to the most beautiful portion of the Northwest. Mr. Wyckoff of the Cascade House at this place and Mrs. Porter of Chicago City, both advertise excellent places of summer resort, unsurpassed for the beauty of their surroundings, the healthfulness of location, or the comfort of their management. Both houses have been quite recently refitted and furnished with everything calculated to minister to the comfort of their patrons.

Mr. Wyckoff also takes occasion to call attention to his fine assortment of Groceries, Dry Goods, Crockery, &c., which he has in store. We take pleasure in calling attention to this establishment, as goods of a superior quality can be obtained at very reasonable rates. Messrs Ely & Co., Music Dealers, St. Paul, swing out an attractive card. This firm is comparatively new to most of our readers and is in every way worthy the patronage of all. Read their advertisement.

THE PETITION FOR THE PARDON OF JEFF DAVIS.—Governor Pierpont, to Virginia, in answer to a request of Paul Bagley to sign a petition for the pardon of Jeff Davis, writes as follows:—"I ask for the pardon of no man who will not ask for his own pardon. God cannot pardon unless the transgressor first asks for his own pardon. Reason—Contrary to the established law of God."

READ THE ADVERTISEMENTS.—The man who does not read the advertisements in his paper can never be said to be well informed. The advertisements indicate not only the business enterprise, of the advertiser, but when you see a man who advertises liberally, you may be certain of finding a good stock of goods in his store, that he keeps up with the market, and sells cheaper than those who do not advertise. If you want good bargains, always patronize those who avail themselves of the advantages afforded through the advertising columns of their paper.
